City hotel partnership moves forward

City of West Sac looking at financing conference center at riverfront site

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

West Sacramento's latest approach to bringing a hotel and conference center to its riverfront moved along last month after support from city council members.

A prior vision for the hotel placed it north of the Tower Bridge, operated by Marriott and owned by the city. Marriott is still in the picture as a potential hotel operator, but the new project is planned as a public-private partnership. It's now on what the city calls a "premier" 2.7 acre site just south of the Tower Bridge, next to Raley Field and the Sacramento River. The proposed developer is Encore Garfield Public Private LLC.

On the drawing board are 343 rooms with a 20,000-square foot ballroom facility. Project cost of $130,800 includes an expected $30,000 in bonds backed by indirect income from the project. City consultants have said that a hotel with a conference center can't be done here without public assistance.

Why is it a worth goal to risk public money for?

Such a hotel "would catalyze development on the riverfront, generate direct and indirect jobs, generate new tax revenues, and increase business and leisure visitation to the City," according to a West Sacramento city staff report.

"I've. . . watched over the years as this city tried over the years to come up with an iconic project to really get this Bridge District going," said Tony Giannoni, a member of the developer team. "That idea always seems to be a conference center/hotel."

The latest vision of a West Sacramento riverfront hotel, in an artist's rendition. After studying a city-owned hotel project north of the Tower Bridge, the city is now looking at a public-private deal to create a hotel with a restaurant and conference. They're now aiming for a 'premier' site next to Raley Field, Tower Bridge and the Sacramento River. (From Hornberger+Wor-

Giannoni made those comments in a March 20 West Sacramento City Council meeting (those comments were taken from city video of the meeting).

The development plan calls for the city to finance its $30 million in bonds for the project from a combination of hotel room taxes (about 12 percent of the room rates), another 2 percent room surcharge, property tax revenues from the future hotel, and lease payments from the hotel operator for use of the city-owned conference center.

City staff told the council March 6 that the bonds would not affect the city's credit rating and revenues appear adequate to safely repay the bonds. If the income were not adequate, the city's general fund would have to backfill a shortage.

As for the hotel's conceptual design, architect Mark Hornberg of Hornberger + Worstell said the 20-story design will stay true to the city's vision for the Bridge District.

"(We're) trying to have our designb address key tenets of that design, including activating the riverfront, reemphasizing connections with the river, activating the pedestrian realm, creating streetfronts that hide parking and emphasizing retail, restaurant, food and beverage (and) meeting revenues."

The ballroom and "junior" ballroom will have outstanding views, he added.

"Both of those spaces have magnificent windows onto the river, the river environment, the Crocker Gallery across the river," said Hornberger. "It will be a sought-out destination in this community."

Mayor Christopher Cabaldon called the project a "critical" piece in promoting activity on the local river, and said the city would only be using revenues "that would not exist if we did not move forward."

"There's no diversion of funds we could have otherwise spent on police, fire, parks or any of our other (city) services," he said at the March 20 meeting.

Mayor pro tem Chris Ledesma called the plan a "solid" one.

"I am excited about it, it's generating excitement in my neighborhood, in the city and in the region," said Ledesma.

With the council's support, the project continues. A city staff member confirmed yesterday that the various negotiations involved are still underway.

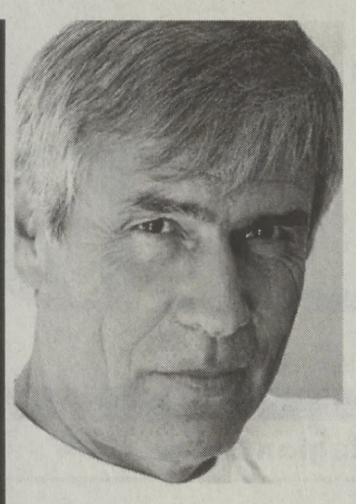
The slow life: not always a good thing



My Back Pages

By Daryl Fisher

Do you ever find yourself going "walkabout"? Well, in case you're not really sure, according to the free online Wikipedia encyclopedia, walkabout is a term which refers to a rite of passage where male Australian Aborigines undergo a six-month or so journey during adolescence where they live in the wilderness and trace the path of their ceremonial ancestors and try to imitate some of their heroic deeds. Webster's, however, just defines the word as referring to "a short period of wandering engaged in by an Australian Aborigine as an occasional interruption of regular work", and it's that latter definition that has made walkabout a favorite word of mine.

For as long as I can remember, I have always enjoyed going walkabout, but since there is no Australian Outback in or near West Sacramento, my wanderings usually consist of just taking lengthy strolls on the quiet streets of my own neighborhood. And although I don't think much about the heroic deeds of my ancestors while I'm doing this (because I don't think there have been any), I do find it to be the perfect time to try and figure out what I'm going to write about next in this little column of mine. And the key to doing that (in addition to somehow coming up with a topic of course) is thinking up a good ending for it. You see, even if the gods decide to pass along the most profound thoughts imaginable for a new column, if it doesn't have a clever (or at least interesting) ending to it, then it's not even worth my time to put pen to paper. I mean, if someone is going to take the time to read 750 words in their local newspaper, then they at least want the last few sentences to pull the whole thing together and make some sense of what came before. In other words, column writing is just like life – it has to have a good beginning, middle, and end.

On a good day of going walkabout this column almost writes itself. Most of the important sentences just somehow float into my head and then almost magically pour themselves out onto my computer keyboard once I finally get around to going to the office. On a bad day, however, all that dramatically changes, and there will not be a single meaningful thought anywhere inside my head. So since experience has taught me that there is absolutely nothing I can do to change that, I have simply learned to try and put my walkabout time to better use on those unproductive days, often by trying to think up new theories.

"No, no, Daryl, please, I don't want to hear another one of your stupid theories!" exclaimed a longtime friend of mine the other day when I cornered him while he was getting ready to mow his lawn.

"But you love my theories," I reminded him, having shared many of them with him over the years.

"I do not!"

"But you told me just a few weeks ago that you loved my last one."

"I did?"

"You sure did."

"Well, then I was lying."

"It was the one about people getting married not necessarily because they're in love, but simply because they have reached a point or age in their life when they really want to settle down and have children – and whoever they're dating or seeing at that particular time more or less gets elected to become the lucky spouse. Remember?"

"Oh, that one. Do you know my wife almost threw something at me when I told her I thought there might actually be some truth in that one?"

"But your wife once told me that she really likes my little theories – especially the one about truth always being 180 degrees from where we think we will find it."

"She was just humoring you, Daryl!"

"So," I said, my feelings slightly hurt, "do you want to hear my latest theory or not?"

"Not."

"It's about how the decades of our life work – time-wise."

"What?"

"You know, how each of the decades of our life go fast, slow, fast, slow, fast, and then slow gain. And although I'm only through the 50's, I bet the 60's, 70's and 80's end up following the exact same pattern."

"What in the world are you talking about?"

"Think about it," I said. "When we're first born, that first decade goes by like a flash – you can't even hardly remember it. Then you become a teenager, and those horrible ten years of pimples and putdowns drag on for bloody ever. But then you finally turn 20, and you're racing around from dawn to dusk doing all kinds of crazy stuff. But then you get to your 30's and things slow down again. You've got a bunch of kids and responsibilities by then and you have to take it easy, work hard, and make good decisions. But then come the 40's and you figure your life is half over and you better start living it to the fullest, which speeds those years up again. But when you turn 50, though, you start getting more reflective and slow down again and start savoring all the stuff that matters most in your life – your family, your longtime friends, and even your work. So there you have it – a definite pattern in terms of the decades we live – fast, slow, fast, slow, fast, and slow again. Now is that a great theory or what?"

'Then you become a teenager, and those horrible ten years of pimples and putdowns drag on for bloody ever. But then you finally turn 20, and you're racing around from dawn to dusk doing all kinds of crazy stuff. . .'

"So, according to your theory, now that you and I are both in our 60's, the years are going to speed up again."

"That's right!"

"But I don't want them to speed up again. It feels like I'm already hurtling towards death as it is!"

"But if my theory is right, things should slow back down again when we hit 70," I reminded my friend.

"But that will probably be because our health will start to fall apart, right?"

"I'm afraid so," I said. "In fact, by the time we're in our late 70s, I bet the kids will probably have already put us in the old folks' home and things will have slowed down so much that we'll need wheelchairs just so we can get back and forth to the bathroom. But then will come the 80s and I bet that is the fastest decade of them all."

"Why is that?"

"Because that's when the Grim Reaper is really after you!"

"See, Daryl, now that's a perfect example of why I hate your stupid theories! They are always so depressing!"

The street address and other common designation, if any, of the real property described above is purported to be: 513 LILAC LANE, WEST SACRAMENTO, CA, 95691. The undersigned Trustee disclaims any liability for any incorrectness of the street address and other common designation, if any, shown herein. The total amount of the unpaid balance with interest thereon of the obligation secured by the property to be sold plus reasonable estimated costs, expenses and advances at the time of the initial publication of the Notice of Sale is $221,525.83. It is possible that at the time of sale the opening bid may be less than the total indebtedness due. In addition to cash, the Trustee will accept cashier's checks drawn on a state or national bank, a check drawn by a state or federal credit union, or a check drawn by a state or federal savings and loan association, savings association, or savings bank specified in Section 5102 of the Financial Code and authorized to do business in this state. NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on a property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call 1-800-281-8219 or visit this Internet Web site www.recontrustco.com, using the file number assigned to this case 12-0084098. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. First loss for RC tennis

From River City H.S.

After 19 consecutive victories to open the 2013 season, the River City High School Tennis Team was defeated by Vista del Lago 6 to 3 last week. The visiting Raiders could only get wins from Cindy Oseguera [7-6(5),2-6,(10-2) at #1 girls singles], and the girls doubles teams of Sarah Yang and Sonia Bola [2-6,6-2,(10-8) at #1], and Nicole Melido and Julia Quenga [6-0,6-0 at #2]. The loss dropped RC's Sierra Valley Conference (SVC) record to 10 wins and 1 loss. The Raiders are now 19 and 1 overall this year.

Earlier last week, RC downed El Dorado 7 to 2. Oseguera and Lily He earned girls singles victories and the host Raiders swept all five doubles matches. Michael Lee and Matthew Tagupa took #1 boys doubles 6-0,6-2 and Jay Tandel teamed with Muradan Chhay for a 6-1,6-4 win at #2 boys. Yang and Bola won #1 girls 6-0,6-0 and Melido and Lilly Tong earned a 6-0,6-2 victory at #2. Lina Vang. and Phillip Dinh came through in mixed, 6-2,6-3.

The week ended on a positive note as the team did very well at the annual Quincy Invitational Tournament. Tandel defeated Lee in the final of the boys singles event and Oseguera cruised to the girls singles title. Both the girls doubles and mixed doubles were all-Raider finals as Oseguera and Yang defeated Vang and Tong for the girls championship and then Vang teamed up with Ben Gerelkhuu to defeat Tong and Dominic Saechao in mixed. Lee and Gerelkhuu won the boys doubles crown.

The Raiders can clinch the SVC championship with a win at Cosumnes Oaks of Elk Grove this week in the last match of the regular season before participating in the SVC singles and doubles tournament on Thursday and Friday.

COUCH THEATER DVD PREVIEWS

BY SAM STRUCKHOFF

PICKS OF THE WEEK

"Safe Haven" (PG-13) -- Another adaptation of a Nicholas Sparks novel shows audiences that the old formula is wearing thin ... and shows no sign of changing. Katie (Julianne Hough) is a young woman with a troubled past. She finds her way into a small coastal town in North Carolina, filled with beautiful beaches and uninspired dialogue. She meets Alex (Josh Duhamel), a hunky single dad who lost his wife to cancer (which is somehow even more prevalent in Sparks' novels than real life.)

Julianne Hough, Josh Duhamel in "Safe Haven"

At this point, you could write a new Nicholas Sparks movie with a Mad-Libs style fill-in-the-blank game. We all know in which act the two most attractive characters will get together, and predict which minute some ridiculous obstacle will pull them apart. In "Safe Haven," the last bit gets so silly that you might actually get some entertainment for your money.

"Jack Reacher" (PG-13) -- Hollywood introduces a new serial hero to the big screen, possibly starting a new franchise hero. Tom Cruise plays Jack Reacher, and Iraq War veteran turned lone-wolf investigator. When a shooting spree leaves six seemingly random victims dead, the cops grab a suspect, and it looks like an open-and-shut case. Reacher gets on the job and starts pulling apart a tangled web of deception.

This is a tight, hero-centric thriller.

"Upstream Color" (NR) -- You may not understand this movie on first watch, but you definitely will remember it. In the film, there is a rare little creature that can cause someone to lose free will and be put under direct control. But that's not even scratching the surface of what the film is about. This bizarre and unique film is the product of a virtual one-man-band. Shane Carruth wrote, directed, produced, composed the score and co-starred in the feature. He even worked as camera operator and one of the editors. This one guy had all of those jobs, and managed to do them all well -- creating an original, odd and brilliant movie.

"The Oranges" (R) -- Nina (Leighton Meester of TV's "Gossip Girl") comes back home to suburban New Jersey, and ends up with the wrong boy next door. Nina is 24, and a handsome young man (well, Adam Brody) has been her neighbor her whole life. Too bad she falls for his dad (Hugh Laurie of TV's "House.") This little situation produces no real laughs. Despite a decent cast, the film doesn't have anything that real families can latch on to.

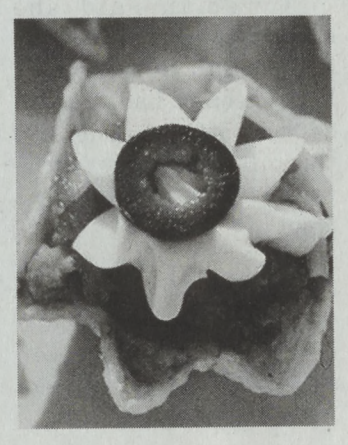
Fifth of May the Easy Way

The fifth of May is known in Mexico, and cities around the United States, as Cinco de Mayo. It is a cultural holiday that celebrates the victory of the outnumbered Mexican Army, lead by General Ignacio Zaragoza Seguin, over the French at the Battle of Puebla on May 5, 1862. Often, May 5 is mistakenly called Mexican Independence Day. Actually, Mexico declared its independence more than 50 years earlier on Sept. 16, 1810 (celebrated in many cities as Diez y Seis de Septiembre).

Modern celebrations feature plenty of flowers in the colors of the flag of Mexico: green, white and red. Parties and parades are held, and mariachi music and folk dancing are a traditional part of the holiday. A large variety of wonderful Mexican foods also are served.

Sometimes, a celebration is the perfect time to try something new. My recipe for Spicy Taco Cups can be made in large quantities to accommodate a festive crowd. This dish also is a tasty and fun way to introduce your family to a historic celebration!



SPICY TACO CUPS

This recipe makes 4 to 6 servings, but is easy to double (or quadruple) to make in large quantities. It's a real crowd-pleaser! You can prepare the meat mixture ahead of time and store it in an airtight container in the refrigerator. You also can prepare the tortillas up to the baking step, store them in an airtight container, and reheat and assemble your taco cups on the day of your celebration!

Cooking oil spray
12 whole wheat or flour tortillas (6-inch)
2 1/2 cups shredded cooked chicken or pork, or ground beef, chicken or turkey
1 cup barbeque sauce
1 cup Pace Chunky Salsa, medium or hot, plus 1/2 cup extra for topping
1/4 teaspoon ground chipotle chili pepper or red pepper flakes
1 cup shredded Cheddar cheese
1 cup guacamole
1 sour cream
1/2 cup sliced ripe olives
1 cup chopped green onions, white parts and green tops

1. Heat oven to 350 F. Spray 12 (3-inch) muffin-pan cups with cooking spray.

2. Wrap tortillas between damp paper towels. Microwave on HIGH for 30 seconds or until tortillas are warm. Fold 1 tortilla into thirds to form a cone shape. Press the tortilla cone, wide end down, into a muffin-pan cup. Repeat with remaining tortillas, re-warming the tortillas in the microwave as needed.

3. Bake for 5 minutes, or until the tortilla cones are golden. Remove tortillas from pan and cool on wire racks. If you're making the tortilla cones ahead, store them in an airtight container after they've cooled.

4. Heat the meat, barbeque sauce, salsa and chipotle chili pepper in a microwave-safe bowl on high for 5 minutes until hot, or in a large saucepan over medium heat until the mixture is hot and bubbling, stirring often, about 6 to 8 minutes.

5. Spoon about 1/4 cup of meat mixture into each tortilla cone. Place salsa, cheese, guacamole, sour cream, olives and green onions in small bowls and allow your guests to top their taco cups as desired.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF THELMA CAMPBELL
CASE NUMBER PB13-67

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of THELMA CAMPBELL, THELMA YEN SOON CAMPBELL:
A Petition for Probate has been filed by Janelle Brotherton in the Superior Court of California, County of Yolo.
The Petition for Probate requests that Janelle Brotherton be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.
The petition requests the decedent's will and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.
The petition requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.
A hearing on the petition will be held in this court as follows: May 21, 2013, at 8:30 a.m. in Dept. 15, Superior Court of California, County of Yolo, 1100 Main St., Suite 300, Woodland CA.
If you object to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.
If you are a creditor or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.
Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.
You may examine the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a "Request for Special Notice" (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A "Request for Special Notice" form is available from the court clerk.

NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on a property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code.
